Maria Morales leads an all day, in person, hands on workshop:
“Exploration & Inspiration – Learning New Techniques”.

Experiment with techniques that introduce spontaneity and a variety of affects into your artwork. We will explore color themes, mark-making, using opacity and transparency. We'll also learn a style of using pen & ink with paint, and finish up by incorporating these skills into a still life, landscape, or figure painting.

Bring your curiosity and playfulness! The workshop is good for all artistic skill levels – no experience needed.

Cost for All Day Class: $20 for WAA members, $40 for non-members.

Registration and payment must be done on the WAA website at www.willingboroart.org using the Maria Morales Workshop link. Payment can be made with all major credit cards, Venmo, or through your PayPal account. Space is limited – sign up opens October 1st.

Payment for the class is non-refundable.

Arrive at 9:45am, the workshop runs from 10am-3:30pm with a 30 minute break for lunch (bring your own lunch and drinks).

All supplies will be provided but feel free to bring your own watercolor or acrylic paints and brushes. Reference images will be provided but you can use your own. Maria Morales is a fine artist known for her use of mixed media and acrylic abstract paintings exploring themes such as identity, nature, and beauty. She received a BFA in Illustration from Parson's School of Design (NY). Her career has spanned graphic design, print production, web design, computer technology trainer, and technology research and strategy analyst.

For many decades Maria created oil paintings of portraits, still life, and landscapes in a realistic style. Abstraction slowly entered her artwork and since about 2020 she mostly creates abstract work. Her current body of work has an ethereal feel representing happy, uplifting feelings and memories expressed as a counter reaction to this time of social unrest, economic upheaval, government overreach, and human cruelty.

Maria's work is in private international collections including in the US, Europe, UK, Australia, and the Middle East.
